Product description

The Plant Festival at the Château de Pommorio in Tréveneuc. A painting created in the afternoon. In the foreground, numerous potted plants can be seen—beautiful, colorful, and sometimes even exotic. These rich forms contrast with the simplicity of the château's façade. In the background, people can be seen strolling. The scene is brightened by white parasols in the distance. The warm color palette of picture is emphasized by strong afternoon shadows...

The picture is framed in a white wooden frame and glass
