Product description

Here is my painting painted in May 2017. My friend and I were having lunch. Suddenly the clear sky began to change colors. The landscape was becoming more and more disturbing...a storm was brewing. The green of the grass and shrubs contrasted beautifully with the turquoise sea and steel blue sky...it's the blue...so called Breton. I decided to immediately paint this incredible "color show" of the month of May. Here's the result. The painting... "The view from my balcony".
